To whom it may concern

I am writing this reference letter on behalf of Kev Meredith and his valued participation in Stockholm Pride's cultural and political conference - Pride House.

Since 2013, Kev has been a dependable and valued volunteer with Stockholm Pride working as a conference host in Pride House every year, including our pandemic years. His contributions eventually elevated him to our in-house AV/tech expert. In June 2023, Kev accepted the role of Coordinator for Pride House Fair. He was responsible for communication with our partners, layout, planning and setup of Pride House Fair, as well as coordination with the conference facilities before, during and after our five-day festival. He performed his duties flawlessly and professionally even in the face of the unforeseen challenges that can arise during an extended event.

Stockholm Pride is a 100% volunteer initiative and Pride Week can be a very intense experience and stressful environment especially for those without prior exposure. It was our first year with free entry for our visitors and access to our organization's social media channels. We were experiencing unprecedented attendance, up to 3000 people per day, when I experienced a death in my family. Kev graciously supported me and picked up my slack when I needed a moment or two to grieve.

I would gladly work alongside Kev again in any context.
